

CONSTITUTION

Article I—NAME

The Botany Club

Article II—PURPOSE

The Botany Club will foster greater appreciation and understanding of plants by serving as stewards of the Biological Sciences Teaching Greenhouse and the grounds surrounding the Biological Sciences Building, by increasing the diversity and quality of the botanical collections held by the Biological Sciences Department, and by acting as spokespersons for botanical knowledge and education to the greater Northern Arizona community.

Article III—MEMBERSHIP

Membership is open to all students, faculty, and staff that have an interest in Botany. Size is unlimited. We agree to abide by Northern Arizona University policy prohibiting discrimination in organizational membership on the basis of race, color, culture, creed, religion, national origin, gender, sexual orientation, marital status, disability, age, or veteran status.

Article IV—OFFICERS AND EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE

The Botany Club will elect a President, Vice President, and Treasurer once each year during the spring semester. Terms will last one year although officers may be reelected to the same office indefinitely. All officers must meet the minimum (2.25 GPA) standards set by Northern Arizona University. The Executive Committee will include the Biological Sciences faculty with expressed interest in the Botany Club and/or research in the field of Botany and the officers. Any vacancy of officers will be filled by the remaining officers until the next election is held. Special elections may be held if necessary.

Article V—MEETINGS

Regular formal meetings will not be held although members of the group are invited to participate in plant propagation each Friday afternoon. Special formal meetings will be called by the faculty advisor or the officers.

Article VI—AMENDMENTS

No amendments exist at this writing.

Article VII—RATIFICATION

Ratification of amendments must be made by a majority of those members present at the meeting where amendments are presented.
